That would be because the iou buyer would need those approvals to buy, I think. So the buyer would take the lead in getting those approvals.

Does JEA itself have its own counsel who practices before FPSC or FERC? (Maybe this is a dumb question if JEA is not subject to FPSC or FERC. But JEA could be affected by proceedings at those agencies and might participate.)

Tony - if the prospective buyer is an IOU, transaction would need to be approved by FPSC and FERC.

Would the City need approval from the FPSC or any other governmental body to sell JEA assets? I understand that an iou may (or may not) require FPSC approval to buy such assets.

Florida has a very broad Public Records Law. Virtually all written communications to or from State and Local Officials and employees are public records available to the public and media upon request. Any email sent to or from JEA's system may be considered a public record and subject to disclosure under Florida's Public Records Laws. Any information deemed confidential and exempt from Florida's Public Records Laws should be clearly marked. Under Florida law, e-mail addresses are public records. If you do not want your e-mail address released in response to a public-records request, do not send electronic mail to this entity. Instead, contact JEA by phone or in writing.
